

To Whom it May Concern,

Michelle Penoyer has asked me to write a letter of recommendation for her in regards to her search for employment in the educational field. I am pleased to do so.

I have known Michelle as a friend for many years. I am continually impressed with her passion as a science teacher and her intelligence. She is very knowledgeable in many subjects. When engaging in discussion, she is very good at gauging how much I know about a subject and explaining other views to me in a way that is interesting and helpful. This is a skill that I am sure both her students and colleagues appreciate.

Michelle is particularly knowledgeable about how schools work, especially when it comes to IEPs, and knowing what accommodations are appropriate for disabled students. I have a child with educational needs and she has always given me helpful ideas and feedback on how to address his needs.

Michelle is constantly updating and improving her lesson plans to improve her class and help her students learn. She has tried many different uses of technologies and worked with a variety of tools. She is very knowledgeable on how to implement technology to benefit her class. We have had many helpful discussions about how best to implement educational technology. Our dialogues have given me helpful ideas and encouragement that I have used in my own career as an information technology professional at the University of Pennsylvania.

Michelle has excellent written and communications skills. She is approachable and is definitely someone who would thoughtfully proofread a document. She will not only catch every grammar and spelling error, but she will also think about what I have written and give me constructive feedback about how well I am expressing my ideas.

Overall, I am extremely impressed with Ms. Penoyer's approachability, professionalism, intelligence, and dedication to education. With her skills as an educator, I believe that she will excel at any opportunity that comes her way, whether in the classroom or in administration.

If you have any questions or would like to talk about Ms. Penoyer, feel free to contact me.

Sincerely,
